Bill Analysis

HB 3026 creates the Public Employees Charitable Campaign Act. The measure authorizes employees of a political subdivision to volunteer in support of private nonprofit social, health and welfare organizations. Such volunteer work may occur during work hours and on public property, subject to permission of the political subdivision. Political subdivisions are directed to establish an oversight committee to establish rules to manage employees' involvement in the organizations when conducted during work hours and on public property. The measure clarifies that its provisions do not preclude or prevent the political subdivision from supporting an employee's voluntary commitment to the organizations by providing materials, supplies, equipment, location, and use of public property
