Bill Analysis

SB 741 requires the Department of Career and Technology Education to collaborate with the Department of Labor to review and approve career readiness assessments and assessment-based credentials prior to the 2019-2020 school year. The assessments must contain a standardized, criterion-referenced measure of work skills, an assessment of student readiness, a measure of skills related to computers or mathematics, a wide array of skill profiles, and a pathway to a nationally recognized work readiness certificate. Subject to available funds, the assessment will be made available to every school district and each school district will administer the assessment to students in the 2019-2020 school year.
