Research Analysis

HB 1790 creates the Aubrey Alert Act. The measure requires the Department of Public Safety to develop and implement a statewide Aubrey Alert system to be activated on behalf of a critically missing adult. When a law enforcement agency receives notice of a critically missing adult, the agency must enter the missing individual into NCIC, conduct an investigation into the disappearance of the critically missing adult, collect identifying information and any other information about the critically missing adult. Upon activation of an Aubrey Alert, the alert must include all appropriate information that may lead to the safe recovery of the person and a statement instructing any person with information related to a missing Native or Indigenous person to contact law enforcement or tribal authorities. The alert is to be terminated with the critically missing adult is located or the situation is otherwise resolved or when the notification period ends, as determined by Department of Public Safety rule.
