Bill Analysis

HB 1095 allows the court to prohibit a defendant from entering, visiting or residing within the judicial district in which the defendant was convicted until after completion of his or her sentence. The court must ensure the defendant has access to services or programs which the defendant is required to participate as a condition of probation. The measure provides that when seeking to enter the prohibited judicial district for personal business not related to his or her criminal case, the defendant shall be required to obtain approval by the court.
