Bill Analysis

SB 874 requires every person, business, or industrial entity to disclose the use of biosolids when labeling products for sale and distribution. Biosolids are defined as sludge, perfluoroalkyl, and any perfluoroalkyl substance. The measure further requires any the disclosure of agricultural crop or vegetative material grown in where biosolids have been permitted to be applied or spread. Each person shall also post clear signage on any property where biosolid operations take place and where biosolids are utilized. The measure directs the Department of Environmental Quality to publish and update annually a map of biosolid land application property sites on a publicly available website. The Department shall, in consultation with the Oklahoma Department of Agriculture, Food, and Forestry, provide written notice to businesses conducting agritourism activities of any biosolid land application taking place within a 2-mile radius of the business.
