Bill Analysis

SB 700 directs the State Department of Education and the State Department of Health to jointly develop and post on their websites guidelines, policies, procedures, and safety standards for the prevention and management of exertional heat-related illness in students' interscholastic athletics and activities. It directs school district and charter school governing bodies to develop a venue-specific exertional heat-related illness emergency action plan. It allows school districts and charter schools that offer athletics and activities to hold an informational meeting prior to the start of each athletic season for all ages of competitors and their parents and legal guardians.
