Bill Analysis

SB 884 creates the Oklahoma Right to Life Act. The measure prohibits any person from attempting to perform or aid the performance of an abortion. The measure provides that if a health care provider determines that the life of a pregnant woman is endangered, the provider shall deliver the unborn person and shall make every reasonable effort to preserve the life of the unborn person after birth and mother. Such providers shall not be subject to prosecution or liable for civil damages. The measure provides that any person who performs or attempts to aid the performance of an abortion shall be guilty of first degree murder.
